By Greyson Ferguson i Creatas Images/Creatas/Getty Images Omniform is a free-to-use computer program that allows you to convert a variety of different word-processing formats. This means if you currently have a PDF or Word Perfect file, you can easily convert it over into a Word file. This allows you to take files from just about any program, convert them, then open the files in Word as if the document had been composed in the Microsoft program. Download and install Omniform if you do not currently have it installed on your computer. You can download it from OmniFormat.com. OmniFormat supports all Windows formats from Windows 95 to Windows 7. Launch the Omniform software you have installed on the computer. Wait for the program to completely open, then click "File" followed by "Open." Select the document you want to convert to Word. Select a save location for your soon-to-be Word document. There is a pull-down menu available on the main screen for you to do this. You can select any location on your computer or attached memory device (such as a flash drive or external hard drive). Select the ".doc" format from the list available through the format pull-down menu. .Doc is the Word file format. Click "Convert" and the document is converted into a Microsoft Word format. You can now easily open it up in Word and edit it as if you had created the file in the program. Learn all the various ways you can quickly convert your Google Doc into a PDF document using Soda PDF's easy-to-use PDF converter tool. Work directly from your web browser; simply upload your doc from Google Drive & convert! Article link 1 Place your cursor at the location you want to link to. You can use the Bookmark tool to create links to specific spots in your document. This is great for tables of contents, glossaries, and citations. You can highlight a portion of text, select an image, or just place your cursor in the spot you want. 2 Click the Insert tab. It's in the menu bar at the top of Word. 3 Click the Bookmark button. It's in the toolbar at the top of Word in the "Links" section. 4 Enter a name for the bookmark. Make sure the name is descriptive enough that you'll be able to recognize it. This is especially important if you are using a lot of bookmarks or more than one person is editing the document. Bookmark names have to start with letters but can also contain numbers. You can't use spaces, but you can use underscores instead (e.g. "Chapter 1"). 5 Click Add to insert the bookmark. Bookmarks will appear on the page surrounded by brackets. You won't see the bookmark on the page if you're using a modern version of Word, but in earlier versions, it may be surrounded by brackets. If you want to see brackets around the bookmark so you don't forget where you placed it, click the File menu, select Options, and click Advanced in the left panel. Then, scroll down the right panel and check the box next to "Show bookmarks" under the "Show document content" header. 6 Select the text or image you want to create the link from. Highlight the text or click the image that you want to turn into a link to your bookmark. 7 Press $\text{\textcircled{#}}$ Command+K (Mac) or Ctrl+K (PC). This opens the Insert Hyperlink window. You can also get to this menu by clicking the Insert tab and then clicking the Link button in the toolbar. 8 Click Place in This Document in the left panel. This displays a navigation tree with your heading styles and bookmarks. 9 Select the bookmark you want to link to. Expand the "Bookmarks" tree if it isn't already and select the bookmark you created. You can also select from heading styles you've applied throughout the document. 10 Set a ScreenTip (optional). To change the text that appears when the user rests the cursor over the link, click the Screen Tip button at the top-right corner. If you don't change the text, the screen tip will display the website address or file path. 11 Click OK to save your link. You can now test your link by holding down the Command (Mac) or Ctrl (PC) button on the keyboard while clicking it. This will recenter the view to the line on which you placed the bookmark.
